HELD OVER TO GRAND JURY

Crofton Negro Charged With Detaining Woman Against Her Will.

EXAMINING TRIAL SATURDAY

Commonwealth's Witness Alleges She Recognized Negro
by Moonlight.

Jim Williams, colored, was arrested at Crofton on a charge of unlawfully detaining Sarah Tucker, a white woman. The arrest was made by Deputy Boxley on a warrant sworn out by the woman. The negro was brought here and presented before Judge Knight Saturday for examining trial. The prosecuting witness stated in substance that a few nights before she was suddenly awakened from her slumbers by some one who was standing by her bed with his hand on one of her limbs. When she jumped from the bed and screamed the party ran out of the house and she states that she recognized the negro in the moonlight. A warrant was procured from the county judge the next day and the arrest followed. Judge Knight held Williams over to the grand jury.
He is out on bond.

FELL FROM BUGGY

And Wheel Passed Over Body of Child.

Lucian, the 8 year old son of Mr.
J. C. Johnson, was the victim of a painful accident Saturday. The little fellow was riding in a buggy with his uncle, Mr. "Button" Pierce, and in turning a street corner, fell out and was run over by the vehicle. The wheel passed over his stomach and it is feared that he is internally injured.
Mr. Johnson took his son to Evansville Sunday night, but the result of the examination by surgeons at the hospital had not been learned when we went to press.

MR. YONTS' BROTHER

Sustains Considerable Loss by Fire at Sebree.

J. B. Yonts, hotel man and large property owner, of Sebree, and brother of Mr. T. L. Yonts, of this city, sustained a loss by fire last Friday, when two of his buildings and household furniture, also $400 in cash, burned. Mr. Yonts had $400 in cash under his pillow and in the excitement he forgot it.

He had $6,000 insurance on his property, which will not cover the loss. Several other small business houses were destroyed. The L. & N.
depot caught on fire several times and it was with great difficulty that the building was saved.

MISS MINNIE COLLIER

Passes Away After Illness of Several Months.

Elder T. D. Moore has returned from St. Bethlehem, Tenn., where he was called last Friday to preach the funeral of Miss Minnie A. Collier, who died of tuberculosis. The deceased was a daughter of the late Hugh Collier and had many friends in Christian county who will learn of her death with much regret. The interment took place in Clarksville.

LANDERS MEET AT SALUBRIA

Reunion of a Prominent Family Wednesday and Thursday.

MANY FROM A DISTANCE

Nearly Two Hundred Members of the Family Are Known.

The Lander Reunion at Salubria to morrow will be attended by many from this city.

Rev. David L. Lander, of Easley,
S. C., who has been chiefly instrumental in working it up, was in the city yesterday and stated that the following from a distant will attend:

NATHAN'S LINE.

Capt. Farnk Lander and wife of Hawesville;

Mrs. W. H. Webb of Louisville.
Mrs. Lucy Lander Wise and husband of Vincennes, Ind., Tracy J.
Lander, Vincennes.

reminiscences by members present.

GENEROSITY ITS OWN REWARD.

A man went into a shoe store down town the other day and asked that he be given a new pair of shoes for the pair he had on, which he had bought four weeks before and which had broken out on the side.
Without a word of dissent the proprietor fitted him with a new pair of shoes of the same style and cost,
and then the man said:

"I think you ought to knock off
a dollar or two."

"Why?" the shoe man asked.

"Because I already had those shoes broken in and now I have to break in a new pair again."

2,000 CARS OF STRAWBERRIES.

One of the great money-making crops of eastern North Carolina farms has been strawberries, which during the past few years has made a reputation for the state and brought millions of dollars to producers. From the Wilmington district 2,000 cars of strawberries are shipped annually and are forwarded to the northern markets in solid trainloads.—National Magazine.

WHEN GOING TO RUIN.

"Prosperity has ruined many a man."

"No doubt, but if I were given any choice in the matter I'd rather be ruined by prosperity than by adversity. The process is more enjoyable."

Ottawa, Ont., July 26.—The cabinet commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of death passed upon the Italian woman, Angelino Napolitano, for the murder of her husband at Sault Ste. Marie.

Mrs. Napolitano killed her husband on April 16 last under unusual circumstances. She alleged at her trial that her husband was on the point of forcing her to lead an immoral life for his financial interest, when to protect her name and the name and honor of her children, she killed him. She was convicted, however, and sentenced to be hanged on Aug. 9 next. She is about to become a mother.

LACK OF RAIN

Has Wrought Havoc With Crops
---Potatoes Few in Hill.

The drouth which is just now being broken by local showers has been widespread. At only 17 of the 100 observation stations of the United States has the rain fall been normal since March 1. Locally the shortening of the tobacco crop, the destruction of many garden products and serious damage to corn are some of the worst results. The Irish potato crop especially is almost a total failure. It is practically impossible to find potatoes at any price. The few the grocers get hold of are quickly sold at 35 cents a gallon. Late gardens are being planted since the rains began and tobacco is now growing nicely.

O'Rear's declaration that Mayor Helburn was person non grata to his highness was an insult to one of the ablest Jews in the State, and few of them are likely to vote for him—but he is still strong with the night riders.

The negroes are down on O'Rear because of his Berea College decision, but many a black mask has covered the white face of an O'Rear Democrat.

The Cynthia Democrat suggests that a convention of politicians be called to make a platform for the people, the only delegates to be "the Democratic nominees for Representative and Senator in each district, the hold-over democratic Senators and the nominees of the State primary held last week, including the nominee for United States Senator." Sometimes the woodcock is too astounded to even fly away.

Old Soldier Tortured.

"For years I suffered unspeakable torture from indigestion, constipation and liver troubles," wrote A.K. Smith, a war veteran at Erie, Pa., "but Dr. King's New life pills fixed me all right. They're simply great." Try them for any stomach, liver or kidney trouble. Only 25c at all druggists.

Solves a Deep Mystery.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters; it cured me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for two years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them! Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at all druggists.

CURED BY CLAP OF THUNDER

Shock Restores Hearing and Speech to Deaf and Dumb Woman of Amiens, France.

It is quite an old story that the deaf and dumb may be cured by a sudden shock, and a new instance of it is related in a dispatch from Amiens, where a woman is said to have recovered the use of her speech after a particularly loud clap of thunder. There have been heavy storms in the region for the last few days, accompanied with hail, rain, thunder and lightning, and trees in some places have been pulled up by the roots. At others lightning struck houses and barns, and horses and cattle have been killed. A woman forty-eight years of age, the wife of a workman, had completely lost the use of her speech since 1905. She was still able to hear, but the only way she had of communicating with anyone was by writing. She was subjected to various treatments, among others that of electricity; but they seemed to have no effect. During the recent thunderstorms she was seized with a terrible nervous attack, and suddenly she recovered the use of her speech, and is now able to converse as easily as before. Several doctors have come to question her, and her cure is talked of as almost miraculous.

KNIVES OF MANY VARIETIES

One Solingen Firm Has 9,000 Patterns on Its Books for German Trade Alone.

An extraordinary thing about the cutlery trade is the variety of knives made. At the Solingen works in Sheffield, for instance, they have 10,000 different patterns on the books. They make sometimes 3,000 patterns to order at one time.

The same thing is true of the large cutlery works at Solingen, in Germany. One firm has 9,000 patterns for Germany alone. New ones are constantly coming out.

The Suffolk works have averaged ten new patterns a week for two years. This is a trade that will not be standardized, which is one reason why America has failed hitherto to compete.—Cassier's Magazine.

SWISS CHARITY FESTIVAL.

The annual charity festival known as "The Little Flower," on behalf of sick and infirm children, was held at Zurich recently with extraordinary success. Over £4,000 was collected by pretty girls who sold artificial marguerites and other flowers.

Although the nominal value of each flower was about a penny it was sold for silver, gold, bank notes and even checks. One wealthy professor wrote out a check for £1,000, which he handed to an astonished girl, and selecting a marguerite disappeared. A tall handsome girl armed with an empty revolver, which she presented to her victims, met with great success.

When the 300,000 artificial marguerites were sold out in the afternoon the girls raided the principal shops for artificial flowers, while others entered private gardens. The owners of these allowed them to pluck all the flowers, which were sold out by night.—Geneva correspondence London Daily Mail.

SAWDUST IN CONCRETE.

Experiment has shown that a mixture of two parts sand, one part cement, and three-quarters of one part of sawdust, will furnish a concrete into which nails may be driven, and which will hold them almost as well as wood itself. This will make a capital flooring, or paneling, and is probably one of those simple inventions which have revolutionary effects upon trades. We have not heard of any bad effects from cracks due to shrinkage of the woody contents, and presume this has but a negligible result.

EXPLANATORY.

Traveler—It seems you have two penitentiaries in Illinois. I can understand why there is one at Joliet. That's to take care of the Chicago output. But why is there one at Chester?

Peoria Man—That's still easier to understand. We had to have one within reaching distance of East St. Louis.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A BLOW.

He—Smith told me the other day he thought I was suffering from brain fog.

Who Was There That You Knew?

In the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or death or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $30,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broke down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to secure the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Benjamin F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the Review of Reviews, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs. It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.

MAKING GREAT SHIPS SAFE

Marine Architects Have Displayed
Marvelous Ingenuity in Guarding Against Accidents at Sea.

In the hands of a skilful marine architect much more has been accomplished with steel construction than the mere economy of space. The safety of vessels at sea has been enormously increased, until in the highest type of modern ocean liners the element of danger is virtually eliminated. The marvelous ingenuity displayed throughout this great fabric of steel in guarding against every possible contingency of the sea comes to the average landsman as a surprise. A great liner of 50,000 tons may be controlled by a single hand. The complicated machinery for safeguarding the ship is practically automatic.

The bottom of the great hull of the liner is doubled, the inner shell being strong enough to float the ship even if the outer hull be completely torn away. It is exceedingly unlikely that water would ever reach this inner shell through accident to the main hull, but the precaution is taken so that if once on shore, it would, indeed, very serious strike a hidden object, it will prove absolutely invulnerable. The shipwrecks of the past caused by running upon hidden rocks, derelicts and icebergs are thus completely eliminated.—M. B. Cea, in Cassier's Magazine.

SAILORS KNEW "WHAT NEXT"

Dramatic Climax of Whitefield In a Sermon to Seamen Brought Forth Unexpected Answer.

Whitefield, whose dramatic appeals to his listeners were always a noteworthy part of his sermons, once preached to a body of seamen in New York. In the course of his sermon he introduced the following words:

"Well, my boys, we have a clear sky, and are making fine headway over a smooth sea, before a light breeze, and we shall soon lose sight of land; but what means this sudden lowering of the heavens and that dark cloud rising from the western horizon? Hark! Don't you hear the distant thunder? Don't you see those flashings of lightning? There is a storm gathering! Every man to his duty! How the waves rise and dash against the ship! The air is dark! The tempest rages! Our masts are gone! The ship is on her beam ends! What next?"

The hands of every sailor were gripping the pews in front of them and a wild excitement was in their eyes. And when the preacher reached the climax of his dramatic speech they sprang to their feet in a body and shouted, "Take to the long-boat!"—New York Sun.

BELL RINGING EXTRAORDINARY.

The enthusiasm with which the Flemish people welcome their national musical instrument has been demonstrated in the recent inauguration of a new set of chimes at Ypres, in West Flanders. The population and the authorities, in order to show how much they had at heart the revival of the chimes, commemorated the occasion by holding a fete of public rejoicing and illuminating the principal buildings of the town at night, while the bells did not cease to ring throughout the whole day. The inhabitants of Flanders take a positive delight and pride in possessing a competent bell ringer, whose time is largely spent at competitive bell ringers' meetings, which often bring together great numbers of candidates.

NOVEL USE FOR TELEPHONE.

The uses to which the telephone can be put are infinite—in California. The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company of San Francisco recently received complaints from farmers on a telephone circuit near Madero, Cal., that their line would be disconnected every Friday and remain so for two days. Investigation was made, and it was found that a farmer's wife was in the habit of taking her telephone receiver off the hook every Friday, and using it during that day and the next as a darning ball in mending the socks of the farm hands.

AS TO SUNDAY OBSERVANCE

Probable Reasons Why First Day of Week Was Substituted for the Ancient Jewish Sabbath.

There is no definite information as to when the observance of the first day of the week was substituted by the Christians for that of the seventh day, the ancient Jewish Sabbath. It undoubtedly arose among the earlier practices of the Christian church, and was regarded as the fittest day to be held sacred, because in the words of one of the fathers, "it is the first day in which God changed darkness and matter, and made the world; and on the same day, also, Jesus Christ, our Saviour, rose from the dead." The several references in the New Testament to the Lord's day, will of course be borne in mind. Various additional reasons taken from the Old Testament were advanced by others of the early fathers in support of the observance of this day. The first law, either ecclesiastical or civil, by which the Sabbath observance of Sunday is known to have been ordained, is an edict of Constantine, A. D., 321, forbidding all work but necessary husbandry on the "venerable Sunday." In the Theodosian code it is enjoined that "on Sunday, rightfully designated by our ancestors as the Lord's day, all lawsuits and public business shall cease." Since the ninth century Sunday has been a thoroughly established institution of the Christian church as a day of rest and religious exercises, and one exempt from any occupations of purely secular character, except such as were necessary.

THE PASSING OF THE DUMPS.

When, two years ago, the New York board of education opened a school for deaf-mute children it was looked upon as an experiment, writes Louise E. Dew in Harper's Weekly. "Now it is recognized throughout the United States as an unqualified success. From an enrollment of 48 pupils in 1908 with ten classes it now has nearly two hundred pupils and nineteen classes, including shop-work, cooking, painting, drawing and sewing. It is the aim of the school to qualify the pupils to enter the trades and professions, and to be self-supporting." In place of the old-fashioned finger-language the deaf-mute child now learns the use of his voice and reads the speaker's lips, often across the room. All persons interested in the training of deaf-mute children should read this article.

COLOR NOT TO HER LIKING.

Because her tresses, which she dyed with a preparation purchased from a hair-dye company, turned a vivid green instead of black, Mrs. Adeline Lewison of San Francisco is bringing a lawsuit against the firm. A few months ago she began to experiment with hair preparations, and she is now a nervous wreck, because her hair resembles a parrot's plumage. She wants $20,000 damages.

it, the fragrance of the lilac made him faint.

"I had hoped—" he began and stopped.

"You had hoped—what?" she asked.

"That I might find you the same. That I might try to make reparation for what I did years ago. Life has never been what it would have been if I had kept you in it. If I had come back and found you poor, I might have made up to you for all that you have suffered. But now I can never make up."

"No," she said, softly, "you can never undo the past."

"When we are young," he said, "we do not value the priceless possession of a woman's love. It was not until I lost you that I knew what I had done."

"Now I have my art," she said. "I am wedded to it."

It seemed to be her final word, so he held out his hand. "Good-by," he murmured, and left her standing by the lilac hedge in the sunlight.

But the next day he sent her a bunch of lilacs, and the next, and the next, and on the fourth day he gathered courage to go back to her.

"At least you will let me be your friend?" he asked.

Then she put him on probation, testing his love in every way she could invent.

"If I could serve seven years," he told her humbly, "and know that at the end I should have my reward, I should not rebel."

"Perhaps I shall make you serve longer than that," she told him, but there was a note of yielding in her voice, which gave him hope.

When the spring came again and the white lilacs bloomed, she said to him one day: "If we wait there will be no white lilacs for my wedding." Radiance illumined his face. "Do you mean," he gasped, "that you will?"

"It would be a pity," she said, and smiled up at him, "to let such beauty waste."

"Your beauty?" he questioned. Again she smiled and said, "The beauty of the lilacs."

And all their world was white with the fragrant flowers on the day she came to him, after she had taught him that a woman's love is not to be won lightly nor to be cast aside for the things that do not count.

DECEIVING ONE'S SELF.

Why pretend that you've got what you haven't? Why pretend that you can pay your way in a set where your income will not suffice to keep you? Why sacrifice your independence and self-respect for the fictitious regard that comes from lavish spending? Why not face the situation frankly, and live simply and sanely? Only in that way can you save money and attain real independence. And in that way, too, you are more likely to find the real happiness which too often eludes those who seek it in social recognition, showy living and costly diversion.

IDENTITY KNOWN TOO LATE.

Noel Bowman, Wanted For Murder in Hancock County,
Was Here Saturday.

A man believed to be Noel Bowman, who murdered Bert McCarty, agent at Lewisport, Ky., it is believed was in Hopkinsville Saturday night and could have been easily apprehended if the police of Owensboro had notified the chief here to be on the lookout for him. The man who answered his description obtained afterwards got off a 6 p. m. train from the north and was seen by two officers at the train, who noticed that he had a deep knife cut scar on one side of his face. He was smooth shaven, weighed about 180 pounds and wore dark clothes and a small black hat. Some hours later a man who claimed to know Bowman notified the police that he had seen him. Chief Roper called up Owensboro and got a description of the man wanted and the entire force got busy. Once a party was seen who claimed to have seen Bowman 20 minutes before, but he succeeded in eluding the officers. Yesterday afternoon he was captured near the city by Marshal Long of Crofton.

The citizens of Lewisport have offered $250 reward; the L. & N. Railroad and the Governor are also expected to offer the same amounts, making $750 for his capture.

To Purify Water.

To purify water sprinkle a tablespoonful of pulverized alum into a hogshead of water (the water to be stirred at the same time). It will after a few hours, by precipitating to the bottom the impure particles, so purify the water that it will be found to possess nearly all the freshness and clearness of spring water. A pailful containing four gallons may be purified by a teaspoonful of alum.—National Magazine.

We believe it to be the case that the conditions of Australia, where reward is more proportionate to ability and effort, and less dependent than in an old country upon birth and favor, lead to the development among natives of the commonwealth, on the average, of greater activity of mind and body than is found among the natives of the United Kingdom.—British Australasian.

NO USE FOR WALKING STICK

Average American, in Hustle of Life,
Has No Time for Unnecessary Clogs.

Now that we are reminded of it, we realize that the great American people are seldom seen to possess a walking stick. "It's a small thing," writes an essayist in a morning paper, "the absence of the walking stick, but it belongs to the American motto, never, in the hustle of life, carry unnecessary cargo."

The idea is, of course, fantastic with the fantasy of transporting common sense. The hustle of life surely extends to travel in the case of a nation which would consider itself degraded if it spent longer than a week in a complete journey through Europe; and when Americans travel they are the last to deny themselves the luxury of an extra bit of luggage because it happens to be unnecessary. It is common knowledge that they go on loading the liner with trunks until the company's officials say "Stop," if only to collect so many more steamship and hotel labels to add to their already bloated store of these trophies.

No. The walking stick is a matter purely of personal choice. Most Americans chance to have no need for a walking stick whereas we do. That is how the thing stands. When it comes to a walking stick the world must be considered individually. The physical weakness is quite likely to have a taste for a gigantic club; the enormously powerful man who snaps his Sandow developer before breakfast as though it were a piece of cotton may select for a walking stick the thinnest shred of malacca that money can buy.—London Globe.

Paid a Ghost's Debt.

An amusing story of an old woman's superstition came before Judge Drummond at Baltimore, county Cavan, in the course of an action brought by Miss Anne Brady against a local farmer named Connell.

The plaintiff said that in June last the defendant told her that the ghost of her brother Phil who had been dead 26 years, was haunting her because he forgot to pay defendant 70 shillings he owed him. The witness was frightened and paid the money, which the defendant swore on "the poker and tongs" was due. The defendant said he, after Phil died, walked nine miles to the wake to see if he could get an opportunity of mentioning the debt, but he was not given a chance. He denied having said anything whatever about Phil's ghost. His honor, in giving judgment for the plaintiff, said he firmly believed the story.

SPARE MINUTE FOR THE EYES

Nothing Gives Eyes Such Complete
Rest as Habit of Closing Them Occasionally.

If you will spare a minute every half hour to the eyes they may be spared to you many years in consequence.

A well-known oculist declares nothing gives the eyes such complete rest as the habit of closing them occasionally for a minute or two. In threatened cases of eyestrain he has sometimes advised no other cure and the patient has recovered his normal sight.

Where one uses the eyes constantly, especially for close work, as the woman who does fine sewing, embroidery or painting, the relief to eyes of lifting them from the work and closing them while one slowly counts twenty-five cannot be overestimated.

Another rest is to change the point of vision from time to time. Look away from what you are doing and gaze blankly into space. Do not attempt to concentrate on anything, merely look out of the window or into a distant corner of the room.

Do not begrudge the time for this eye resting. It is the best sort of investment you can make and will not take half as much time or money as visits to the oculist.

City authorities of Amsterdam are now considering the conversion of the street rubbish as a mass into combustible briquets for heating boilers.

Independence Earned.

The independence and liberty you possess are the work of common dangers, sufferings and successes.—Washington.

Occupation for Women.

Two women, maybe more, occupy novel positions in the business world in New York. These women are employed by a number of wholesale dress goods and millinery houses to entertain women buyers from out of town. They entertain the visitors at dinner, in the theater, and make the sojourners' stay in New York pleasant. The expense, of course, is charged to the houses employing them. The individual charges of these women entertainers usually are about one-fourth of the total expense.

Latest Idea in Rope.

A company has patents covering a rope made of several strands of paper covered with galvanized steel wire. The rope thus produced is strong, tough and flexible, suitable for clothes lines and such uses. It is claimed that a rope of this kind will withstand the action of the weather 50 per cent. longer than cotton.

CORONATION OFKING GEORGE

AT THE

Princess TheatreRED HAIR WAS NEW TO THEM

Indians for a Long Time Insisted That White Man's Hair Must Have Been Painted.

Forty years ago the Indians in Colorado knew but little of the white man, and nothing hardly of his ways or habits except from tradition. Among the people who went to settle in Colorado at that time was a man with very red hair. He and his party were thrown among the Indians, who thought at first that his hair was painted, just as they painted their own bodies and faces.

An old chief came up to him one day and looked at his hair very carefully.

"Ugh!" said he. And then, turning to the interpreter who had the party in charge, he wanted him to ask the man where he got the kind of paint that would color, and yet not be greasy or look dabby. He was told that the man's hair was not painted, but he would not believe it. He once more walked up to the man and scrutinized his locks, running his hand through them and looking at his fingers.

The red-haired man became a little nervous, and half fancied that the chief was calculating how nice a red scalp would look hung to his belt. The interpreter, however, laughingly told the man what the chief had said.

Two or three more of the Indians then gathered around the party, and they and the interpreter had a pow-wow. Finally the interpreter asked the man if he would object to putting water on his hair.

He saw the Indians would not believe but that it was painted, until they saw that the water would not wash the color out. The man took some water, rubbed it on his hair, and then showed his hands to them. But it took four or five days of wondering examination to convince them that he had not found some peculiar paint, and got himself up in a bright red suit of hair.

CUT OUT FOR A FINANCIER

Youth Beginning Well and Father Seemed Abundantly Justified in His Reasoning.

The old man was perched upon a high stool, figuring up the day's sales of dry goods, groceries and hardware, when his son came in with a rush.

"Say, Pop," exclaimed the young man, "if I can buy a three-hundred-dollar horse for one-fifty will you take a chattel mortgage on him and help me out with the cash?"

"What kind of a horse, my son?" inquired the father cautiously.

"Bay, 4 years old, sixteen hands high, weighs 1,000 pounds, and sound in wind, limb and bottom."

"That sounds good to me, my son, and I want to do all I can to help you along in the world," and he reached down into the safe for his roll. "How much do you want?"

"A hundred and forty-nine, fifty."

The old man gasped and caught hold of the desk.

"What?" he exclaimed.

"A hundred and forty-nine, fifty. I've got half a dollar."

Slowly the old man shoved the roll back into the safe.

"My son," he said softly, "you are wasting time trading horses. What you ought to do is to go into the loan and trust business."—Lippincott's.

Fond Hearts Finally United.

After waiting 30 years for her to become a widow, George Slegarm of Wilkesbarre, Pa., has married Mrs. Marietta Tchern of Hazelton. When they were young in Germany, they fell in love, and would have married had it not been for the opposition of their parents. They tried to elope, but were discovered and caught before it was possible for them to wed. Slegarm, despondent and angry, emigrated, and his sweetheart, who was married a year after he left, followed a few years later with her husband, who died a short time ago. Slegarm lately discovered that his old sweetheart lived in Hazelton. The old courtship was begun again and culminated in their wedding the other day.

Light on Habits of Snakes.

The popular theories regarding the cobra's musical ear, and the snake's power of fascinating birds, are upset by a statement made the other day by Professor Barnard who has been studying this species of snake in Ceylon. The serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable, he says. The only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity, which is excited by any loud and acute sound. The cobra protrudes its head from its burrow alike on hearing the snake charmer's flute, the rattling of a chain, or the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. Barnard also concludes that the power of fascination upon birds is purely imaginary.

A Wide-Awake Constable.

"Ye say ye ain't been speedin', eh?" said Silas as he stopped the car. "Nary a speed," said the chauffeur, trying to be amiable. "When did ye leave Quinceville?" demanded Silas, suspiciously. "Five o'clock this morning," said the chauffeur, with a wink at his companion.

"Five this mornin', eh?" said the constable, catching the wink. "Taken ye six hours to come four miles. Wa-al, I guess I'll run ye in, anyhow, only I'll change the complaint from overspeedin' to obstructin' the highway."—Harper's Weekly.

STEEL MONSTERS CRASH HEAD ON

THRILLING SPECTACLE PROMISED FOR VISITORS AT KENTUCKY STATE FAIR.

COLD SHIVERS A PLENTY

Two Monster Steel Steam Engines Dash to Certain Destruction in Full View of Spectators.

Seldom is it that any community is afforded an opportunity to witness such an ambitious and thrilling performance as is promised the crowds in attendance at the Kentucky State Fair on Saturday, September 16, when the spectacle is provided of two monster steam engines, started under a full head of steam and permitted to crash head-on in full view of the spectators. A sight such as this is sufficient to cause the most stolid of persons, he with the nerves of steel, to involuntarily shudder and flinch as the collision occurs.

The hiss of escaping steam, the bursting of the great boilers, the rending of the formidable iron parts, the tearing and crashing and grinding of twisted masses of steel are even inspiring in the terrible force which accompanies them.

The sight of the two mountains of machinery rushing headlong into each other's embrace is sufficient to freeze the blood in one's veins, and send shivers of fear rushing up and down the spinal columns, despite the knowledge that there is no personal danger. The sensations resulting are intense but it is such as these that the human family is seeking to-day, and no more spectacular offering could be provided to satisfy the ever present desire for something out of the ordinary.

The engines are placed on opposite ends of a track built especially for the purpose. The fires are started, the steam is produced, the throttles are thrown open, and the two monsters are started to physical destruction by engineers who leap to safety before the impact comes.

PREMIUM LIST FOR CREAMERY BUTTER

NEW DEPARTURE FOR KENTUCKY STATE FAIR CERTAIN TO MAKE HIT.

Nursery cultivation is proving not only one of the most fascinating of studies in the rural sections of Kentucky but it also is developing into one of commercial importance which is taking high rank. To those interested it will be good news to learn that the Kentucky State Fair management has decided to offer tempting premiums for nursery displays in connection with plant and flower department.

This is another of the entirely new departures which have been decided upon for the big Kentucky State Fair of 1911. It is along the lines of progress and improvement which make certain that the Kentucky State Fair not only will maintain its lead in the south but that it will take its rightful place among the great state exhibitions of Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota and others to the north.

PERMANENT BUILDING IN INTEREST OF HEALTH

The campaign for health being waged the country over is to be aided materially by the establishment on the grounds of the Kentucky State Fair, at Louisville, of a permanent health building, the cost of which will be paid by the Jefferson county fiscal court. Dr. W. Ed Grant, city health officer of Louisville, and Dr. W. B. Smock, Jefferson county health officer, took up this matter with the fiscal court and secured the appropriation. The federal government has agreed to send a corps of instructors to Kentucky each year during the fair to deliver lectures dealing with the problem of health.

Livestock, Bedecked in Ribbons, March Around Pavilion to Delight of Audience.

What has always been one of the most interesting of all the features in connection with the Kentucky State Fair was the grand parade of prize winning livestock around the ring in the pavilion building. This feature is to be given more attention this year than ever. It will be started at two o'clock on the afternoon of Friday, September 15.

This parade is an imposing one, not alone from the amount of money represented by the premiums, but because of the great amount represented in the value of all the winners combined. The slow moving, ribbon bedecked cattle seem aware of their commercial importance as they trudge around the ring, while the sleek, carefully groomed horses of high degree prance along as if more than conscious of their grace and breeding.

Collie dogs, running and barking at the crack of the whips of their masters, ponies and costly sheep and hogs, all combine to make a show equal to any presented during the week. It is a source of pride to those who own the prize winners and a stimulus to others to enter their stock in future competitions.

COW'S HORN NURSING BOTTLE

Description of Old-Time Baby Raising That Will Make Modern Mother Shudder.

The original nursing bottle was a cow's horn, to the small end of which were sewn two pieces of leather, as a finger of a glove, and the infant drew its nourishment between the stitches. According to Dr. D. Forsyth, fifteenth century mothers used to nurse their babies for close upon three years, a duration still customary among the Japanese and Greenlanders. In the time of the Stuarts it had declined to between eighteen months and two years. In the time of the Georges it fell to one year, and now he reckoned the average as eight months.

During the Hanoverian period the practice of feeding babies artificially became somewhat common. Cow's milk was not then considered just the food for a baby deprived of its mother's milk, and the substance called "pap" was introduced through the cow's horn. "Pap" was a mixture of crust, water and sugar. A baby that thrived on it was usually one of rare constitution.

The nursing bottle with a long rubber stem succeeded the cow's horn, and by degrees the comparatively sanitary feeding bottle of today was introduced.

CARICATURES ON THE STAGE

Appeal to Playwrights to Make Their Characters a Little More True to Nature.

At the anniversary festival of the Royal General Theatrical Fund J. L. Griffiths, United States consul general, spoke a word of appeal for some improvements in the drama. He would like, he said, to see a play in which there was a really spiritual clergyman, an honest barrister, a straightforward diplomatist and an American gentleman. Mr. Griffiths' views have been generally indorsed by the press.

It is acknowledged that diplomatists are presented on the stage too consistently as creatures of preternatural cunning, never as men with human limitations. The popular dramatic type of clergyman, the muscular, is more tiring still; every curate is not the physical equal of a prizefighter. An American gentleman would be very welcome on the English stage. The type almost invariably presented is like nothing on earth. He is neither a gentleman nor an American. It is true he no longer ejaculates "By gosh!" or "I calculate," but he continues to be a caricature, and a bad caricature at that.

Naming the Gerry-mander.

The gerry-mander was christened in 1813, although it must have been in operation long before that. A staunch old Federalist, Gov. Elbridge Gerry, controlled through his legislature the redistricting of Massachusetts under the census of 1810.

In the office of Benjamin Russell, an ardent Republican editor, hung a map of the state as newly subdivided by Gerry and his men. Gilbert Stuart's ready pencil whimsically added to the outlines of a grotesque district the wings and tail of a dragon.

"Ha!" he said when he had finished. "How's that for a salamander?"

The Republican Russell growled: "Petter call it a Gerry-mander." And American politicians have taken his advice.—The Independent.

Catching Speed.

Two wild-eyed horses wearing dilapidated harness and drawing a battered delivery wagon stopped at the stable door.

"Just had a runaway," panted the driver.

"Then for Heaven's sake don't put those horses in with the other horses that will soon go out on a trip," said the head hostler. "If you do, they'll run away too. They always do. Before I learned as much about horses as I know now, I brought on a dozen runaways by doing that fool trick. The horses that have just been on a spree are still worked up to fever pitch, the rest of the horses catch the spirit of the devil from them, and as soon as they get out they take a header."

Originator of Mothers' Day.

Mrs. Anna M. Jarvis, the originator of mothers' day, is said to be a typical Quakeress of the old school. Her object in having one day in each year set apart for mothers is because of her gratitude to her own mother. The second Sunday in May has been selected as mothers' day, and men and women throughout the country have pledged themselves to observe it. According to the ideas of Mrs. Jarvis those who have a mother will devote that one day to making her happy, those whose mothers are no longer on this earth will try to add to the happiness of some woman whose children have passed away.

The Test.

Madge—I refused Jack eight times before finally saying "yes."

Ethel—Why did you change your mind?

Madge—I didn't. I was merely seeing if he would change his.

Persevering.

Dentist—Never mind. I'm coming to it.

HARLAN'S STOCK OF TOBACCO

Justice's Inquiry About Lack of Good "Chewing" Brings to Him an Enormous Supply.

When the argument in the case to dissolve the tobacco trust was taking place before the Supreme court recently and the attorney for the defense was waxing hot in his oral plea, Justice Harlan remembered that his quality of "plug" had not been up to the standard for some time and he halted the eloquent advocate to ask:

"Why is it we can't get any good chewing tobacco in this country any more?"

The attorney was startled. He was not familiar with that phase of the tobacco business and he couldn't answer the question.

Justice Harlan's interrogatory got into the newspapers and it was published all over the country that the venerable jurist was unable to get any plug to his liking.

Then something happened. Tobacco by the plug, the caddy and the half barrel began to come to the justice from admiring friends, and the shipments of tobacco have continued until he has a supply that will last him all his life if he lives to be a centenarian.

Justice Harlan is very fond of the "weed." While the court is in session his hand frequently slips under his sable robe to his hip pocket and comes back with a generous hunk of tobacco, and he does his best work under the inspiration of a good chew. —Indianapolis Star.

HOW SHE DID IT

Maxine—Phyllis is always running down people when I go out with her in her auto.

Marion—Doesn't she ever get arrested?

Maxine—No; they can't arrest you for gossiping, can they?

THOSE HARVARD MEN.

There is one very naughty young man who attends school up at Cambridge, Mass. He just simply cut recitations the other day and came down here and spent three days.

"I must go to see the dentist," he remarked with a bored expression to the room clerk of an uptown hotel, "then I must catch the noon train."

"But why go to the dentist?" asked the room clerk. "Your teeth are all right, aren't they?"

"Sure, but I need a certificate from the dentist to account for my absence."

The room clerk, who thought that he was used to the wicked ways of the world, was quite overcome.—New York Sun.

MEASURING RAINDROPS.

The simplest method yet devised to ascertain the size of raindrops is as follows: The drops are allowed to fall into a layer of dry flour one inch in depth, which is exposed to the rain for a few seconds only. The flour is then set aside until the pellets of dough formed by the drops have hardened sufficiently to be picked out. Experiments with measured drops of water falling into the flour have proved that the pellets differ little in size from the drops that produce them. The largest drops yet tested by a prominent scientist somewhat exceeded one-fifth of an inch in diameter; but most of them were much smaller. The size varies with the kind of clouds from which the rain falls.

HIS REASONS.

"So you didn't ask papa if you could marry me! Now, why not?"

"Because, my love, he looked so forbidding."

ONE SIGN.

"You say he is an active reformer?"

"Well, he gesticulates a great deal."

CIVIC CENTERS IN AMERICA

Springfield and New Haven Are Soon to Carry Out That City Building Idea.

The idea is steadily gaining ground in American cities of grouping the municipal buildings in accordance with some definite plan which, when realized, shall have a marked effect upon the beauty as well as the convenience of the community. Springfield and New Haven are two New England cities in which this idea of a civic center will soon be carried to fulfillment. In New Haven the new and costly post-office authorized by congress last winter will be located on the site of the old Tontine hotel, facing the beautiful green. This building, with the new public library, the new court house and the city hall, will give the city a civic center of striking distinction. It will be necessary to remove the Second National bank building, which was erected only a few years ago, but even this sacrifice will be well worth while in consideration of the result to be secured. Instead of tearing down this heavy building, it is proposed to undertake the difficult feat of moving it bodily to the adjoining site occupied in the past by the old public library.—Manchester Union.

HOSTESS BY ARTFULNESS

Mrs. Wiggs—Has Mrs. De Bluff any social qualifications?

Mrs. Digs—Oh, yes; she's an adept at getting up lovely garden parties in other people's gardens.

CAT BEAT HIM BACK.

The grayness of evening was creeping over the little suburb. Far away the shrill voices of newspaper boys could be heard calling the 6:30 editions and the moon cast its pale beams on the worried woman who stood anxiously leaning over her garden gate.

"I can't make out where my husband has got to," she remarked to a neighbor. "He went out nearly three hours ago with our cat, a bag, two bricks and the clothesline. He was going to the river to drown the cat. Oh, what can have happened to him?"

"Don't worry, dear," said the sympathetic neighbor. "Cats take an awful time to drown, you know."

"But it can't be that keeping him," sobbed the discouraged wife, "because the cat came back more than an hour ago."—Tit-Bits.

DIPLOMATIC.

Ambassador Jusserand, at one of his dinners at the French embassy in Washington, said of diplomacy: "Diplomacy may be defined as a way out—an easy, pleasant, honorable way out. A young royalist duke, from a story current about him, is well versed in diplomacy. This young man visited a millionaire in Cannes during the Riviera season, and his host's daughter was thrown at his head—so much so, in fact, that when he came to leave Cannes his hostess took him aside and declared gravely: 'It's reported all over that you are to marry Claire. I don't know what to say to people.' The duke smiled easily. 'Oh, just tell them,' he said, 'that Claire refused me.'"

LOVE FOUND THE WAY.

"And you love chickens, Sam?"

"Gee! I certainly does, boss."

"And you get 'em once and a while?"

"Oh, sure, boss, I get 'em."

"How do you get 'em, Sam?"

"Well, boss, you knows dat ol' sayin', 'Love will find the way.'"

Had to Find Out.

Under ordinary conditions, he was a man of prominence—but, as he ascended the steps of his residence, very early in the morning, it was very evident that he desired to be as much otherwise as possible. The cabby was lingering near by to see that his charge was safely disposed of for the night. The door opened before the man on the steps could get the key to work, and he was greeted with the question: "Henry, where have you been?" (Silence.) "Henry! Where have you been?" (He turns to descend the steps.) "Are you going to answer my question?" "Yes, dearie heart, I am. From my personal knowledge, beloved o' my soul, I can't give th' desired information. So you jest lay down again while I go back an' ask th' hack driver!"

The Use of Lace.

Lace is, of course, the natural trimming for light washable fabrics, but here, too, discrimination must be used. A safe rule to follow is this: Patterns and mesh increase in size as materials grow heavier, and become smaller and finer as materials grow lighter. If we keep this simple rule in mind, it will help to steer us around many pitfalls. Like all other rules, it has its exceptions, for occasionally a contrast is sought between the consistency of a fabric and the lace that trims it. But contrasts are ticklish enterprises unless one is very skillful, and harmonies of relationship meet with more general success. A simple and sure way to test the correctness of your trimming in lace as well as other materials is to observe whether details of your gown are conspicuous at a greater distance than is allowed by a good-sized room. If, at this remove, your girdle or your colored bands are noticeable, except as a harmonious contribution to your costume, you may be sure that they are "out of value," as the painters say.—Woman's Home Companion.

Why They Laughed.

A man coming downtown in a North side car realized there was something about his appearance that was highly amusing. One girl sitting opposite him could not control herself and laughed aloud.

Behind a newspaper he turned to the man next to him and asked him if he saw the joke.

"It's in your right ear," he was told. "You have a kind of a Charlotte Russe effect there."

It was the soapy souvenir of a shave in a dark bathroom.—Chicago Post.

Fair, for the Morning After.

When Jones—you know Jones—went down to breakfast this morning, with the gentle morning breeze stealing in through the curtained window of the Jones' suburban home, his wife said: "Henry, I was shocked when I saw in what condition you arrived home last night; I was perfectly beside myself."

"Ah!" he replied, with alacrity, "that accounts for it; that's why I saw two of you—you were beside yourself."

HENDERSON IS NOW IN.

New Kittens Celebrate By Defeating the Champion Moguls.

McLEANSBORO TURNS OVER.

Hopkinsville Team Closes First Half At Henderson To-day.

The Moguls went to Henderson Sunday and dropped a game to Henderson by 3 to 0.

Beasley and Huhn and Wahl and Smith were the batteries and Henderson won by an opportune bunching of hits.

The K. I. T. Directors met in Henderson that day and formally transferred the McLeansboro franchise to Henderson.

The game won in the afternoon was a good start for the Hens. The second game was played yesterday and the third of the series and the last of the half will be played to-day. The new series will be started at Harrisburg Wednesday and after three games the Moguls will be home Saturday to play Paducah.

SUNDAY GAMES

Paducah 4, Cairo 9.
Henderson 3, Hopkinsville 0.

Hopkinsville has lost 17 games out of 62 in the first half, but more than half of these games were lost in the early part of the season in trying out new pitchers. Of the present staff of pitchers—Yon, Johnson, McArthur and Beasley—all of them combined have lost only 8 games, and two of them have played 17 games each. In the present line up there is not a weak spot and the champions hope to win a larger proportion of the next 63 games.

KNOWS THEM NOT

Col. E. D. Jones Never Heard of Negroes Who Used His Name.

A St. Louis paper records the marriage in East St. Louis of Henry Clay, aged 82 and Adelia Strickland aged 72, a colored couple who told the reporter they were sweethearts on the farm of "Wildcat" Ed Jones, in this county in 1863, were torn apart by the war and the recent marriage was a revival of the love affair of 48 years ago.

In 1863 "Wildcat" Ed Jones was a soldier in the army of Virginia and was never in Kentucky until 1869 and he says he never had the couple in his employ.

"WHEAT KING"

Col. E. D. Jones Still Wears The Title This Season.

Col. E. D. Jones is to the front again this year with the largest wheat crop in Christian county if not in the whole state. He has just finished threshing his crop of 16,009 bushels, which is valued at some thing like $13,000. There are a number of 10,000 men in the county, but Col. Jones manages to keep a few thousand bushels ahead of the others. This year his closest rival is Mr. R. F. Rivers, who raised 15,000 bushels, whose two sons, Harry and George, on separate farms, raised about 7,000 bushels more.

Col. Jones on Saturday morning at 2 o'clock began threshing his crop of oats. He started a load to the mill by daylight and by 9 o'clock had a check for $161 worth in his pocket.

That Wonderful Oil Pull Engine.

Two months ago Dr. J. A. B. Word, of Oak Grove, took the bit in his teeth and bought a Rumley Outfit, consisting of an Oil Pull Engine and a full threshing outfit and a gang plow with ten plows, with a cut of 14 inches each. He threshed his wheat without a hobble with 30 gallons of oil per day costing $1.50. Now he is following thirty acres of land per day with this rig, burning 50 gallons of oil each day costing $3.50.

He has a harrow hooked on behind his gang, and leaves the ground in a fine condition. It took nerve to pay the price, but the man with nerve is the man who eventually wins out. It is the best investment the Doctor ever made.

Mules and Feed are Getting Higher Each Year.

A farmer is too wise to feed every thing he raises to mules to raise it with. It costs $120.00 to own and feed a mule every year. Labor is getting scarcer, less dependable and more costly all the time. Be wise. The wheat kings of Christian County can't afford to fallow their 500 and 1,000 acres with mules.

We can get you a rig here within five days. Let us put you right.

It costs in corn and hay $10.00 to fallow 30 acres with mules and $15.00 for hands and feeding equaling $25.00. With an Oil Pull and Gang it costs $3.50 for feed and $3.50 for labor, equaling $7.00. You cannot afford to lose that $18.00.

KELLY FARMER

Succumbs to Complication of Diseases After Long Illness.

John F. Meacham, a well known farmer of North Christian, died at his home near Kelly Friday evening, after an illness of long duration, of a complication of disease, aged 66 years. He had been in bad health for about two years. Mr. Meacham had been twice married and is survived by his wife and two daughters, one of them by his first marriage. He also leaves one brother, Bud Meacham, and two sisters, Mrs. D. J. McCord, of this city, and Mrs. Wesley Witty, of near Kelly. He had been a member of the Baptist church for about fifty years. His funeral services were held at his late residence Saturday afternoon by Rev. J. T. Cleavinger and the interment took place in the Boyd burying ground.

One from Lyon and Other from Union.

Jas. K. Walker, an asylum patient from Lyon county, died at the institution Saturday of chronic dysentery aged 68 years. He had been here twelve years. The body was shipped to Kuttawa yesterday.

Mrs. Alice Raley, a patient from Union county, died Sunday, aged 49 years. She was received at the institution about ten days ago. The remains were sent to Flournoy yesterday.

Clarksville Tobacco Market.

M. H. Clark & Bro. says: "The receipts in the Clarksville open market last week were 211 hogsheds. John D. Scales, auditor, reported Killebrew & McMurry, salesmen of the Planters' Protective Association, sold 475 hogsheds. The reduced crop in the field gives a strong market, with a strong general demand, and the speculative feeling is increasing. We have had scattered showers of rain, but generally light. The supply of good plants is exhausted and no additions can now be made to the tobacco crop."

BARNES BRIEFS.

Crops Revived by Rain—Fruit Crop a Failure.

Barnes, Ky., July 15.—The farmers are wearing a bright countenance this week, after having had a good rain last Monday, when the fall amounted to about two inches. Corn was drying up in the tassel and the tender blades were scorched by the hot sun, the mercury registering from 85 to 100 in the shade for about two weeks before the rain fell.

Mat Kelly and wife and daughter, of Los Angeles, Cal., are here on a visit. They spent last Sunday with Mr. Kelly's uncle, Mr. M. D. Hord. Wheat has been threshed. The yield was light this season. The apple crop is almost a failure. The few that are still on the trees are very rough and onesided. No peaches, and as the old saying goes, "a peach will be good for the sore eyes this year."

Miss Georgie West, of Barnes, visited the family of her uncle, Jas. West, last Saturday and Sunday. She and Misses Maud, Ora and Opal West visited Miss Annice Hord Sunday.

The blackberry crop was good, but the drouth dried up the berries on the bushes before they ripened and many are the cans that are empty as a consequence. We understand that Mrs. H. T. Fruit and daughters filled more than a hundred cans with berries. However, many failed to put up a single can: SENRAB.

Camping Party.

A camping party, composed of Paul and Claude Twyman, Ernest Cantrill, Elmer Gerard and David Hooser, is going to Huffman's mill next Monday morning to spend a week. Huffman's mill is one of the most delightful camping spots in this vicinity. Butter, eggs, milk and such can be obtained very easily. Swimming, boating and hunting are also good. The spot is also near to town, being only eight miles out. Several parties have been camping there this summer.

ASSOCIATION FIGURES.

Resums of the Business Covering 7 Years.

The first crop handled by the association was that of 1904, says Secretary G. B. Bingham, in his annual report. This small beginning justified the efforts put forth next season and for each successive year to the present. The following resume of its business for seven seasons, showing the number of hogsheds sold, the number pounds, the amount for which it sold and the net average price per hundred pounds speaks for itself:

1904—24,707 hogsheds; 39,531,200 pounds; $2,637,953.42; net average, $6.67.
1905—34,638 hogsheds; 55,392,140 pounds; $3,944,227.64; net average, $7.12.
1906—39,079 hogsheds; 61,615,850 pounds; $5,450,099.81; net average, $8.84.
1907—60,417 hogsheds; 75,316,905 pounds; $8,135,089.19; net average, $8.54.
1908—53,676 hogsheds; 81,637,144 pounds; $6,297,675.41; net average, $7.04.
1909—24,318 hogsheds; 36,478,500 pounds; $4,377,420.00; net average $9.02.
1910—32,500 hogsheds; 55,000,000 pounds; $5,750,000.00; net average, $9.00.

"Note—The 1910 crop is estimated and based upon sales of about one-half of it which had been sold up to June 1, 1911.

"Total—270,336 hogsheds, 429,981,739 pounds; $36,592,135.20.

"The average price for seven years prior to the organization, from best estimates, was about five cents per pound. The amount for which 429,971,737 pounds would have sold at that rate, is $21,598,586.85.

The difference between this amount and that for which it actually sold through the association is $15,093,548.35, showing a saving to the planters of over two million dollars annually.

The association is now organized in nine counties of Kentucky and eight of Tennessee. It has contracted with 139 prizees, 33 warehousemen, 17 county chairmen, the same number of county secretaries, 20 district chairmen and five salesmen. It has a membership of practically 15,000 growers.
